Reflection Essay

This assignment taught us the necessity of RANSAC algorithm, along with the panorama stitching of two or more images.

The implementation was done with the help of custom implementation as well as the automatic implementation provided in the opencv library.

Also at the same time, different challenges were encountered which helped us to better understand the concepts taught in class and also visualize them in real life applications